

Killing of Premier May Affect Policies Of Japan on Arms

WASHINGTON STIRRED AT NEWS OF AFFAIR

Jap Delegates Are Frankly Worried Over Naming of Successor to the Liberal Hara.

Tokio, November 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Premier Hara was fatally stabbed in the breast today
at the railroad station in Tokio.

He died an hour later. The assassin, who is nineteen years old and demented, was arrested.

FINANCE MINISTER TO ASSUME POST.

London, November 4.—A Tokio dispatch to the London Times says that the post of premier of Japan,
made vacant by the assassination
of Takashi Hara, will be assumed
by the finance minister, Koriyoshi Takahashi.

MAY AFFECT ARMS MEETING.

United News Staff Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)

Washington, November 4.—The assassination of Premier Hara of Japan, has created a profound impression upon the entire assemblage of foreign notables here to attend
the forthcoming arms conference.

"Will it alter the moderate policies of Japan as advocated by the late premier?" is the question heard everywhere, from the American state department throughout the visiting missions.

Perhaps there could be no better
authority to answer this question than Prince Tokugawa, president of the house of peers and a leading member of the Japanese delegation to the conference. Tokugawa, in reply to the question put to him,
said:

"I do not think the premier's death will have any influence one way or another on the work of the conference."

A similar view was expressed by high officials of the state department.

Was Liberal.

There is, however, this concern.
Hara was a notable liberal as liberals go in Japan. Would his successor take the same liberal view of international affairs, which would place the cause of world
peace ahead of the cause of Nippon's militaristic party?

"I cannot make any prediction as to Premier Hara's successor," said Prince Tokugawa on this point. "We cannot forget anything on the eve of this conference. Of course, Admiral Baron Kato (head of the Japanese delegation here) is next to the premier as far as court precedence goes. But what his majesty, the emperor, shall be advised, I can not say."

In the absence of complete details of the assassination, authorities declared that the significance of the incident could not yet be comprehended. If it were a Korean student who committed the fatal stabbing, it was held, there could be no more significance attached to the act than in the case of the assassination of former President Mc-Kinley or the attempt to kill the late President Roosevelt in Milwaukee.

May Be Militarist.

On the other hand, were the assassin found to be a tool of the Japanese militarists, it was generally agreed, a very profound significance might be attached to the act.

And the cause of Korea, if one of her students were proved guilty,
certainly would not be enhanced by such an attack, it was plainly indicated in high quarters. President Harding, for example, upon being

Announce Program At Nation's Grave On Armistice Day

Impressive Ceremonies to Mark Burial of Unnamed
Hero in Arlington.

Washington, November 4.—The
call of an army bugle, sounding
"Attention," will bring the gathering in Arlington National cemetery
to its feet at noon on Armistice day,
to stand two minutes in silence, as a memorial to America's unknown dead from France. For the same period a similar pause in the nation's life everywhere, by proclamation of the president, will testify
to the country's regard for its nameless soldiers in France.

Secretary Weeks will act as master of ceremonies.

The detailed program for the services marking the burial of the unknown dead at the memorial amphitheater in the Arlington cemetery, was made public today by the war department. To conclude the period of silence, the Marine band will lead the audience in "America,"
and the address of President Harding, the only address to be delivered over the casket, will then be made.

Opera Quartet.

A quartet from the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York will follow with the hymn, "The Sacred Sacrifice." Those composing the quartet are Miss Rosa Ponselle, Miss Jean Gordon, Morgan Kingstone and William Gustafson.

The honors bestowed by the United States government and by the allied governments upon the unknown soldier will then be conferred. President Harding will pin on the casket
the congressional medal of honor
and the distinguished service cross.
He will be followed by Lieutenant General Baron Jacques, who will bestow the Belgian cross of honor.
General Beatty, of the British fleet, will pin the Victoria cross beside the other decorations. Marshal Foch will place upon it the French med-
aille militaire, and croix de guerre;
General Armando Diaz, the Italian
gold medal for bravery; Dr. Bedrich Stepanek, Czechoslovak minister,
the Czechoslovak war cross, and Prince Lubomirski, Polish minister,
the virtuti militari.

Audience to Sing.

The audience will join the quarter in the hymn, "O God, our father in ages past." Chaplain Laszlo will read from the Psalms, Miss Ponselle
will sing "I know that my Redeemer liveth," and Chaplain Frazier recite
a "Scripture lesson," and the services within the amphitheater will close with the singing of "Nearer
my God to Thee" by the audience.

The Casket Will Then Be Carried

to the crypt on the terrace of the amphitheater, the president and Mrs. Harding, the vice president and Mrs. Coolidge, senior foreign delegates to the conference, Secretary Hughes, Denby, the distinguished foreign officers, and General Pershing following. As the casket is placed in the crypt, the burial service will be read by Chaplain Laszlo, and floral decorations will be placed on the tomb by Representative
Hamilton Fish, of New York; Mrs.
Emmett Digney, representing American war mothers.

Three Salvoes of Artillery Will

mark the regular triple volleys for military dead. Taps will be sounded by an army bugler and the national salute of twenty-one guns fired
from a nearby field battery will end
the ceremony.

False Affidavits Charged.

According to affidavits filed by the United Mine Workers' attorneys, many of the affidavits presented to the Boardland Coal Company of West Virginia were false,
and Judge Anderson did not consider all rebuttal evidence presented by the miners.

One Affidavit, presented by the

Borderland company in Judge Anderson's court, it was claimed by attorneys for the miners, and given by a miner named Jesse Mercer, alleged that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, urged
the union miners at Red Rock, W.
Va., a few days before the Mingo county march, to "kill every gunman in Mingo and Logan and blow
up every mine."

Lewis, it was stated, was not in West Virginia at the time, and has not been in the state in 1921, except on a train.

The Anderson injunction was issued on the grounds that the union was using check-off funds to attempt to unionize West Virginia and to supply strikers and union members with firearms and other supplies.

The decision of the appellate court was issued by Judges Evans,

Baker and Alscheuler. William A.
Glasgow, Philadelphia, and Henry Zarrum, Indianapolis, appeared for the miners.

Witness for State

At Arbuckle Trial.
Is Reported Missing

San Francisco, November 4.—The California police, through District
Attorney Matthew Brady, of San Francisco, today were requested to find Alice Blake, one of the main witnesses for the state in the manslaughter of Arbuckle, who was brought to trial here November 14.

Miss Blake disappeared from a place near Callotago, where she was staying with Mrs. John Duffy, mother of George Duffy, a deputy district attorney. The witness was not under arrest, but was being detained with her own consent, pending the Arbuckle trial.

Her disappearance, according to

Mrs. Duffy's story to the district attorney, was that she was taken by Miss Blake's mother, Mrs. John Westphal, of Oakland, and an attorney, whose name District Attorney Brady did not obtain. The girl left with her mother in an automobile, Mrs. Westphal saying she was going to take her daughter home.

The Westphal home in Oakland

was unattended today, investigators
said.

Miss Blake was a guest at the party given by Arbuckle in a local hotel, when Virginia Rande, film
actress, is alleged to have sustained injuries which preceded her death.

Putnam Inn Burns.

De Land, Fla., November 4.—Several guests were rescued with difficulty and others lost all their personal effects when the Putnam inn was destroyed by fire here today with a loss of $35,000 to the building and its contents.

Woman Announces For Commission Place in Decatur

Male Candidates Wonder
How to Conduct Campaigns Now.

BY COL. JEFFERSON S. MILLS.
Decatur, Ga., November 4.—(Special.)—Politics is "pleasing up" out this way. The lowly male politician, who has monopolized the field for many years as chief manipulator and candidate, must now stand back—Mrs. James A. Campbell, prominent club woman, has cast her hat into the ring and is now a full-fledged candidate for a place on the city board of commissioners.

Rumor has it that Mrs. Campbell
will not be the only woman candidate for the two vacancies on the commission at the expiration of the terms, Homer George and Ray E.
White, both of whom are candidates
to succeed themselves.

Name Not Announced.

The other woman's name has not been made public, but it is understood her announcement will be made during the next several days.

Then the race will be on in earnest.

Mrs. Campbell is the wife of James A. Campbell, prominent broker, and long has been identified with civic movements in Decatur county.

She is a former president of the Decatur Parent-Teacher association
and has taken much interest in U.
D. C. activities. She was one of the leaders in the fight for commission form of government.

The Male Trio.

Mr. White, Mr. George and Mr.
Campbell all are well known.

The election will be held November 19. In the meanwhile, Decatur will have one of the hardest fought campaigns in years—and for the first time in the city's history, the women candidates, voters and politicians, will play a prominent part.

And, the men candidates now are wondering how they will conduct aggressive campaigns.

READY TO RESIGN, DECLARES LOGAN

Will Quit Municipal Research Committee If Necessary Not to Embarrass City Market.

"If I feel that it is necessary in order not to embarrass the public
market movement, I'll resign," stated James L. Logan yesterday, when told of rumors at city hall that he might be asked to resign today his resignation as a member of the municipal research committee of city council.

He said he would visit the mayor
Saturday morning to discuss the charge made by Councilman J. A.
Couch that he had demanded commission in connection with the selection of a market site. He declared the charge to be unfounded, stating that it was only part of the opposition's plan "trying to muddy
the waters in order to defeat the market."

"I wouldn't embarrass the committee in any way," stated Mr. Logan.
"I am working for the market. I stand ready to do anything to promote the interests of the city."

Councilman Couch demanded of Mayor Key Friday that he ask for the resignation of Mr. Logan. Mr.
Couch stated he has information that Mr. Logan asked for a part of the commission to be received from the sale of the Edgewood avenue
lot offered by Ben Padgett, a realty dealer, as a site.

"I am reliably informed," said
Mr. Couch, "that Mr. Logan demanded a share of the commission
for using his influence toward having the committee select this particular site."

The councilman asserted that if
Mr. Logan did not resign he would fight the market on the floor of council Monday afternoon and call names and tell "everything I know about this deal."

Edgewood Avenue Site

Opposed by Women.

It was announced Friday by Miss Grace Freeman, of 530 Capitol avenue, that a delegation of housewives and others would appear at the meeting of the finance and municipal research committees to oppose the Edgewood avenue site
and to ask that the building of a market house be postponed.

She stated that the Atlanta Woman's club represents only a small number of the housewives in the city, and the women and taxpayers
of the city at large ought to be represented.

jected the amendment of Senator
Harris, democrat, Georgia, proposing to tax political campaign contributions of more than $100. It also rejected an amendment by Senator Trammell, democrat, Florida, which would have provided that individuals borrowing money to purchase Liberty bonds could deduct
the interest on such loans from their net income only in case they bought
the bonds at par.

Johnson for Tax.

Announcing his support of the sales tax, Senator Johnson, republican, California, assailed the pending bill as one seeking to continue
"a tax scheme which requires an army of experts to teach honest
people to pay what is due the government and which creates another
army of experts to teach the dishonest how to cheat the government."

Senator Walsh, Massachusetts, opposed the Smoot plan as one which not only would fail to relieve the people of "the vexatious nuisance
now in force, but would multiply them many fold. Business men, he said, had misunderstood the Smoot plan in that they had thought it would replace all other taxes.

An unsuccessful effort was made tonight by Senator Townsend, republican, Michigan, to have the 3
per cent tax on automobile trucks and wagons repealed. The senate voted 36 to 27, against reconsideration of the committee amendment,
proposing to continue this tax.

Amendments by individual senators
then were taken up under a tacit
agreement that the session tonight
would continue until a late hour.

Harris Plan Rejected.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON,
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 4.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—Senator Watson's sensational charge that soldiers were hanged in France without proper court-martial has brought to light at least the fact that the gibbet was used in France
to execute men condemned to die,
either by drumhead, regular court-martial, or upon the mere order of officers, this fact alone being a surprise to the whole nation. It has always been stated and assumed
by the American public that there were less than a dozen military executions in the expeditionary forces, and that they were consum-
mated by regulation firing squads.
The presence of standing gallows
as permanent instruments for military executions had never been dreamed of until the Georgia senator started "the nation by his charges."

Whatever may be eventually proven therefore as to the proceedings
prior to these scaffold hangings, whether regular or irregular under the military code, the fact remains that the Georgian has undoubtedly sustained the outstanding re-fact that death scaffolds were built and used in the American sectors
overseas.

Senator Watson Reads to the senate today a letter signed by Johnson McFetridge, of 2340 High street,

southeast, Anacostia, offering to cooperate with Senator Watson in bringing to light facts connected with the execution of soldiers in France. His letter said:

"You contend that you have a photograph of the gallows used in France, but if you will call on me
I shall gladly loan you two photographs of the deed being done at
Is-Surre-Tille, France, and immediately the date General Pershing
made his inspection of the camp.
Should you be interested in obtaining these and will call on me at 2340 High street, southeast, I shall be glad to co-operate with you.
Sunday would be an appropriate time."

The photographs referred to show
a scaffold with the trap about to be sprung. A soldier in uniform, wearing a black hood, can be seen standing under the trap. The other picture shows the victim after the alleged execution had taken place
and before he was cut down.

McFetridge was a member of the 34th engineers, stationed at Is-Sur-Tille, which was a large rail head and supply camp. He said that for a period of three months executions took place at this camp nearly every Friday afternoon. Friday came to be known as "hanging day," he said, and the executions were public.
McFetridge stated he knew of no case in which the victims had not been found guilty by court-martial.
He also declared that it presumed a man guilty until he could establish his innocence, and that frequently victims were without means of obtaining a lawyer, which would have cleared them.

Invited to Execution.
Another letter was from J. Denby

THREE CONVICTED IN PEONAGE CASE

Henry County Farmers
Charged With Holding
Negro Farm Hand in Servitude.

The first convictions for peonage
by the government in this district
in several years, occurred Friday,
when three young white farmers
and a negro, all of Henry county, were found guilty of holding Jerry Ravin, negro farm hand, in involuntary servitude.

Erwin Morris, said to be the ringleader, was fined $500 and sentenced to the federal penitentiary
for one year and a day. Hugh Morris, his brother, and Sam Gardner were given terms of four months in the Pulton Tower. The negro Brown was given two months.

Following the sentence, counsel
for the convicted white men gave notice that they will take the fight to the circuit court of appeals on writ of error. Judge Shibley permitted the release of Erwin Morris under $1,500 bond. Hugh Morris and Gardner were required to furnish $500 bond each for their release.

Lu Everett and James E. Gwalt-ney, two other white men named in an indictment, were acquitted.

No other case of the present term
of federal court has required as much time for trial as did the peonage case which ended Friday. The case was called Tuesday and the first witness, Jerry Ravin, the alleged peon, was heard.

The government charged that on the night of November 19, Erwin Morris, Sam Gardner and the negro Brown arrested Ravin in Clayton county and flogged and whipped
him in an attempt to make him work for Morris. It is alleged that Ravin owed Erwin Morris $75.
Ravin was forced to work for Morris against his will, it is said. The defendants pleaded not guilty and vigorously fought the charges.

The jury recommended that the

MORE FUNDS ASKED TO DRY-UP NATION

Washington, November 4.—Congress will be asked for $10,000,000 for the enforcement of prohibition during the next fiscal year, an increase of $2,500,000 over the appropriation for the current year.

One Meal Will Tell of a Finer Flavor

HERE'S a worthy suggestion. Try one meal of Puritan Ham or Bacon and learn how great is the importance of particular care in the selection of young, tender meats for curing and smoking.

And judge also, how skillfully fine flavor has been given these meats by our Puritan method. That one test is sure to make you a Puritan enthusiast. But be sure to say "Puritan, please," when you order.

house, thirty loaded barges, a train of thirty loaded freight cars and another of five oil tanks were destroyed. Early estimates of the loss ranged from $1,000,000 up, but the figures were frankly guesses, and will remain speculative until a check can be made of the variegated shipments that were in transit. The fire was discovered shortly before midnight on pier C. Within an hour it had swept over nearly a half mile of water front, illuminating the sky for miles around, and drawing great throngs of spectators to the Jersey and Manhattan sides of the Hudson. A strong breeze which fanned the flames carried burning embers across the river, showering them down on the New York water front and carrying some as far as Times square. Crews of several steamships on the Manhattan side were called out to quench great clusters of blazing embers that rained down on the ships.

One of the doomed piers was leased to the Standard Oil company, of New Jersey, and contained several thousand barrels of crude oil. A series of minor explosions occurred when the flames ate their way into the pier. Fire boats from New York and every available piece of fire apparatus from Hoboken, Jersey City and other New Jersey towns were called out to aid the Weehawken force in its unequal struggle, but confined their efforts to preventing further spread of the fire. Three firemen were seriously injured when the roof of one of the piers collapsed under them. The fire was the third to occur on Erie railroad property within six weeks. Six weeks ago fire was discovered in the machine shops at Jersey City and two weeks ago on a Jersey City pier. Both were extinguished before much damage had been done. No theory as to the origin of today's fire was obtainable.

IRISH SETTLEMENT HINGES ON ULSTER

Understood in London
That Conferences With Craig Mark Crisis in Peace Negotiations.

London, November 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Developments in negotiations toward an Irish settlement now are understood to hinge on the conferences which Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, will have in the next few days with Premier Lloyd-George and Sir Edward Carson.

A special meeting was held by the Ulster cabinet in Belfast today, prior to the departure of Sir James for London. He will spend the week-end with his son at Eton, meeting the prime minister. It is expected, on Monday.

At Irish headquarters today it was stated that the British representatives and the Sinn Feiners had reached a measure of accord that promised a solution of all difficulties, and that now Ulster was a stumbling block in the path of the negotiations from the government's point of view as from that of the Sinn Fein.

Desmond Fitzgerald, of the Sinn Fein party, in a statement this afternoon definitely denied a number of reports published in London newspapers relative to points on which an agreement is said to have been reached by the conferees. He declared untrue rumors that the Sinn Feiners had accepted the principle of dominion status and British control of Irish ports and had agreed to contribute from the Irish treasury to the imperial treasury.

He refused to disclose any points which have been agreed upon thus far, but it is stated in other Irish quarters that the determination of the Sinn Feiners not to accept the principle of allegiance to the British crown remains unshaken.

It is intimated in these quarters, however, that a formula has been agreed upon, bridging that difficulty, whereby Ireland would not be designated as a British dominion but as an "associate nation." It is further stated that a solution of the Ulster problem must come, if it comes at all, through Ulster's recognition of the principle unity in Ireland.

RUSS NOT BOUND BY ARMS MEETING ACTS, NOTE SAYS

Moscow, November 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—Foreign Minister Chicherin sent a note to the entente nations and the United States today saying that Russia will not feel herself bound by the decisions of the Washington conference and holds herself free to take any steps necessary to prevent their enforcement.

CIVITANS HEAR SPEECH ON ANTI-CANCER FIGHT

"One out of every eight women and one out of every 14 men are killed by cancer," declared Dr. Earl Quillian in the main address delivered at the regular meeting of the Civitan club Friday afternoon in the Kimball house.

"One hundred thousand people die annually from the diseases in the United States," he continued. "In 1909 a campaign was inaugurated against tuberculosis and in twenty years the mortality rate from it has decreased in the United States to 29.8 per cent. In opposition, the mortality from cancer has increased about 30 per cent. It is because we believe an educational campaign will decrease the effectiveness of cancer as it did tuberculosis that the present National Cancer week was called."

Dr. Quillian also said that radium and X-rays are used in curing the disease, but said that the best thing to do is to get surgical treatment the moment the disease is in evidence.

Humorous talks were made by Ben Wiseberg, Park Dallas, Dr. Mel Hardin and Roy Head. Preston Arkwright, president of the Georgia Red Cross chapter, proved his statement that he was a veteran. As is usual, the workers immediately took a personal interest in the young man's case, and referred him to the public health division. Here his trouble was diagnosed as tuberculosis and he was sent to government hospital No. 48, Spaulding street, where he was examined and his case was pronounced bronchitis, so the next day he was given transportation to Jacksonville, and a meal ticket.

Red Cross Aids Former Soldier To Get Position

Not so very long ago a shabby individual walked hesitatingly into the home service department of the local Red Cross chapter office. When one of the workers approached him he became noticeably ill at ease and tried unsuccessfully to hide the patches in his coat. He held his worn cap over the lower part of his face to guard his unshaven chin from inspection. But, despite his discomfort, the Red Cross worker detected a sincerity in his attitude and a purpose in his straightforward look, as he asked for help.

"I'm an ex-soldier," he volunteered, "and I know you Red Cross folks will help me. I've been riding the blinds from Chicago, and I'm just about all in." Here he paused and coughed. "I have a wife and a 13-month old baby in Jacksonville, Fla., and I'm trying to get down to them. Since I was discharged I've been working on the railroad, but was just laid off. I've been sick a long time, but couldn't get my government claim through, because my wife has had a discharge papers down home and can't find them."

He showed the Red Cross worker an affidavit which was made out by the Chicago Red Cross chapter, proving his statement that he was a veteran. As is usual, the workers immediately took a personal interest in the young man's case, and referred him to the public health division. Here his trouble was diagnosed as tuberculosis and he was sent to government hospital No. 48, Spaulding street, where he was examined and his case was pronounced bronchitis, so the next day he was given transportation to Jacksonville, and a meal ticket.

In the meanwhile, the local Red Cross worker filed his claim for government compensation and federal board training. A few weeks later the boy returned to Atlanta in search of work.

"I'm back because there wasn't any Red Cross health service department in Jacksonville," he explained. "And there isn't any work there, either. I want to do the right thing, and while I'm waiting for my claim to go through, I'll do anything to earn a living."

The Red Cross worker got busy, and at noon the boy had a job washing windows. He stuck with the work faithfully until the claim was fully adjusted, and with a few small loans from the Red Cross, he managed to live comfortably and send money home.

Now he is taking special work at Georgia Tech—has moved his little family here, and "they're all living happily."

Skin Diseases Due To Waste Products In The Blood

For Genuine Relief Your Blood Must Be Purified.

For real, downright, harassing discomfort, very few disorders can approach so-called skin diseases, such as eczema, tetter, boils, eruptions, scaly irritations and similar skin troubles, notwithstanding the lavish use of salves, lotions, washes and other treatments applied externally to the irritated parts.

To correct the basic trouble—waste products—the blood must be purified. Don't clog your blood. Just clean it out. Nature will do the rest. Pure, rich, red blood nourishes the body and fights off disease.

S. S. S., the standard blood purifier and system builder, is the ideal remedy for skin eruptions. The effect of S. S. S. is to rid the system of the waste products which are small poisons. For over 50 years S. S. S. has proven to be of unusual merit. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 32-page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

COTTON STORAGE BY U. S. PLANNED

War Finance Corporation
May Name Committee to Develop Plan for Wholesale Warehousing.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN,
Constitution Bureau.
Raleigh (By)

Washington, November 4.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire).—The war finance corporation has under advisement the appointment of a committee for the purpose of investigating and developing further plans for the warehousing of cotton and cotton-seed products on a large scale. The plan may be extended to other southern products, as to illustrate, sweet potatoes. It has just completed, by authority of the secretary of the treasury, such a plan as it relates to corn.

It will be recalled that years ago, when there was a temporary large surplus, cribbing corn was successfully undertaken in carrying forward the surplus. It is believed by the war finance corporation that ways and means may be found by which a considerable part of the large surplus now on hand may be safely stored and financed on a sound business basis until it can be marketed or utilized, with benefit to the farmers in the corn belt as well as to the entire nation. Thus the idea is to be developed further as to other crops where it is necessary to hold the surplus.

Crop records show that unusual yields do not continue indefinitely, and the preservation of a surplus against a time of diminished production is in line with a sound economic and financial policy. The membership of the committee will be announced shortly.

The finance corporation announced today the following advances to banks in Georgia on agricultural paper, the advances having first been recommended by the southeastern board, of which Atlanta is the headquarters, with John K. Ottley the chairman:

To one Georgia bank, $18,000; another, $20,000; another $30,000, and the fourth for the day, $25,000.

These advances are being made to the extent of a half million dollars a day allocated to every section of the country. The names of the banks to whom advances are made are not made public through usual banking discretion.

Plans to Support Georgia Sunday Schools Started

At an enthusiastic conference held at the Second Baptist church, plans were definitely launched for the annual financial campaign for the support of Georgia Sunday School association, which has its headquarters in Atlanta. During the past few days several conferences have been held with leaders in many of the adult Bible classes, and with a number of the well-known Sunday school workers in the city, which culminated in the final plans for the campaign last night.

E. R. Craighead, a prominent attorney, who is superintendent of the First Christian Sunday school, is chairman of the finance committee. Associated with him are 53 workers, who will bring in others to assist in putting the campaign over in good shape. The amount the committee has adopted as its goal is $10,000. This will be secured from Sunday schools, from Bible classes, and from individuals. One of the largest contributors reported was that of North Avenue Presbyterian church for $600.

In speaking of the campaign and of the work of the Georgia Sunday School association, Mr. Craighead said: "We are going to put this campaign over in Atlanta because we believe in the Sunday school cause, and because we believe in the work of the Georgia Sunday School association. It is the only agency which is endeavoring to help all of the 4,000 Sunday schools in Georgia."

Dr. H. E. Tralle, of Philadelphia, and Dr. E. LeRoy Dakin, of Charleston, W. Va., each paid a tribute to the Sunday School association work, both as to the benefit they had received personally, and because of the impetus it had given to the Sunday school cause throughout the country.

R. D. Webb, of Atlanta, is general superintendent of the Georgia Sunday School association. Among those who are helping to put this campaign over in Atlanta are the following: Central committee, J. V. Wellborn, H. S. Colburn, T. O. Hathcock, Floyd Field, Dr. Marion McH. Hull, Joe Little, Dr. Gillespie Enloe, John Cone, Hardy Padgett, I. M. Sheffield, Leslie Hubbard, John Pasco, W. W. Tindall, Bert Peacock, C. N. Walker, W. E. Floding and Oscar Fainland. The workers from the adult Bible classes in the city include S. L. Sloan, M. E. Ailes, C. B. Culpepper, Ernest C. Wellborn, Dr. I. L. Catron, Hunter Hogue, E. C. James, C. W. Hall, W. T. Haralson, Captain A. J. McBride, L. L. Perrine, J. B. Overton, H. E. Short, Mrs. H. E. Short, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. M. Dawson, H. E. Rice, E. R. Payne, Earl Heard, Mrs. E. R. Payne, F. E. Cogler, L. D. Jolly, Mrs. S. L. Sloan, Mrs. Fay West, Mrs. W. C. Nevills, Mr. Mitchell, Mrs. W. C. Murray, Mrs. A. D. Wood, Mrs. H. B. "Whereas, the American Red Cross is now appealing to the American public for support necessary to carry out its splendid work, therefore be it

"Resolved, that the American Legion in convention assembled, indorses the roll call of the American Red Cross and call upon the service men of America to lend their influence and best efforts to the roll call in recognition of service that has been and is still being rendered."

Basel Stockbridge, past state commander of the legion, said, "I'm sure our organization will back the roll call to a man. They all love the Red Cross, and won't fail it now."

"The Red Cross is still helping out 'buddies' who can't help themselves," stated Rufus Barnett, commander of Post No. 1, "and we will co-operate in every way we can with the local chapter in putting across the roll call. We'll never forget how the Red Cross was behind us when we were behind the guns, and it's behind us now. I am speaking for all of Post No. 1 boys when I say they'll help."

ATLANTA MAN ASKED TO HELP WILSON FUND

The Georgia committee interested in the formation of the Woodrow Wilson foundation, a movement begun in New York in recognition of the services of Woodrow Wilson, will be headed by Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, former ambassador to Switzerland, it was learned here Friday. In a letter to Charles J. Haden, well known Atlanta man, whom he requests to become a member of the state organization, Mr. Stovall outlines the scope and work of the Woodrow Wilson foundation.

The movement is an acknowledgment of the service, both national and international, rendered humanity by Wilson. Mr. Stovall explains. From the income of the proposed foundation, Mr. Stovall says, an annual award will be made to the person or persons doing the most to promote the cause of human liberty and international relationship, for which Wilson so earnestly strove. A fund to establish this foundation, Mr. Stovall states, is to be raised in January.

Concert Honors Woman's Club.

The members of the Atlanta Woman's club and their friends were afforded a rare hour's enjoyment yesterday morning when Charles Cooper, pianist, and Miss Ethel Rust-Mellor, soprano, were presented in complimentary recital by Ludden and Bates.

Mrs. Boykin, the president of the club, stated that she felt it was a great privilege to have Mr. Cooper and Miss Mellor, since they were real American born-and-reared artists. She introduced Mrs. William C. Clark, prominent Georgia clubwoman, who had known Mr. Cooper in Paris while he was a student of Harold Bauer, and who paid a beautiful tribute both to the teacher and student.

Charles Cooper's art, however, speaks for itself. His short program Friday morning was an exquisite one, and was a harmonious blending of favorite and appealing numbers, rather than any attempt toward executing numbers to show brilliancy and studied technique. His playing left one with the desire to hear more.

The house was beautifully decorated throughout in the Halloween colors, and blacks and witches. At the end of the long hall an old witch hovered over her smoking pot and foretold the future. All the usual Halloween games were played and refreshments were served later in the evening.

Williams was hostess at a spend-the-day party Friday afternoon at his home in Ansley Park in compliment to his cousins, Mary King Hart and Virginia Hart, of Lakeland, Fla., the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hart. Advisory Committee Named From Martha Berry Circle

Mrs. John W. Grant, Mrs. Eugene Black, Sr., and Mrs. Clark Howell were appointed on the advisory committee by Mrs. Frank Inman, president of the Martha Berry circle of Atlanta yesterday morning at the meeting at the Piedmont Driving Club, to investigate the claims made by the state of Georgia that the Berry school owes a sum estimated at $25,000 in back taxes. It was the consensus of feeling and opinion in the circle that if the state of Georgia demands the back taxes for educating the illiterate boys and girls of the mountain section, that the money to pay these taxes should not be raised outside of the state of Georgia. Two Floyd county lawyers represent the state and 20 per cent of this tax will be paid them as attorney fees.

Miss Berry speaks. Miss Berry, who is famous throughout the country on account of her work for the mountain boys and girls of north Georgia, near Rome, Ga., spoke to the members of the Martha Berry circle yesterday and explained that her school was entirely philanthropic in nature, had been inspired by the desire to stamp out illiteracy in Georgia and that the work is done on her own property. The sum which Miss Berry had to raise in 1920 to cover the operating expenses of the school was $76,193.03, while a large deficit had to be raised each year since the beginning of the school. This amount was necessary after income of all kinds was applied on the expenses.

Twentieth Anniversary. Miss Berry announced that the school was founded in 1902 and was preparing to celebrate the twentieth anniversary on January 13, 1922.

She has always considered it a charitable institution. Among the institutions which are exempt from taxation are Berea, in Kentucky; Hampton, in Virginia; and Tuskegee, in Alabama. These schools also have large endowments, while the Martha Berry school has but a small per cent of small endowments. Miss Berry, herself, accepts no payment for her services, and she regards her work with the deepest affection and interest. She stated that a million-dollar endowment for boys and a million for girls is vitally needed to further carry on the school. The lectures whenever she is called to add to the treasury, and then pays her own expenses to these lecture parties.

Miss Morgan's Gift. Miss Ann Morgan has given $2,500 for moving picture films of the school, in order that the true vision of Miss Berry's school may be shown her audiences. These films are now being shown in Cincinnati, and will shortly be seen at the Howard theater in Atlanta.

The faculty of the school is most carefully selected for these children require the most unusual treatment in their education. Splendid loving service and influence is put forth by each teacher, and the school is not after a cheap fashion.

The Martha Berry circle went on record 135 strong and voted as a unit to aid and stand behind Miss Berry in meeting the present crisis confronting the situation.

Making Mayonnaise

Of all the tasks a housewife has, making mayonnaise is probably one of the most troublesome. The oil, the eggs, the seasoning—everything—even to the temperature, must be exactly right, and even then sometimes it "turns back," and is a failure.

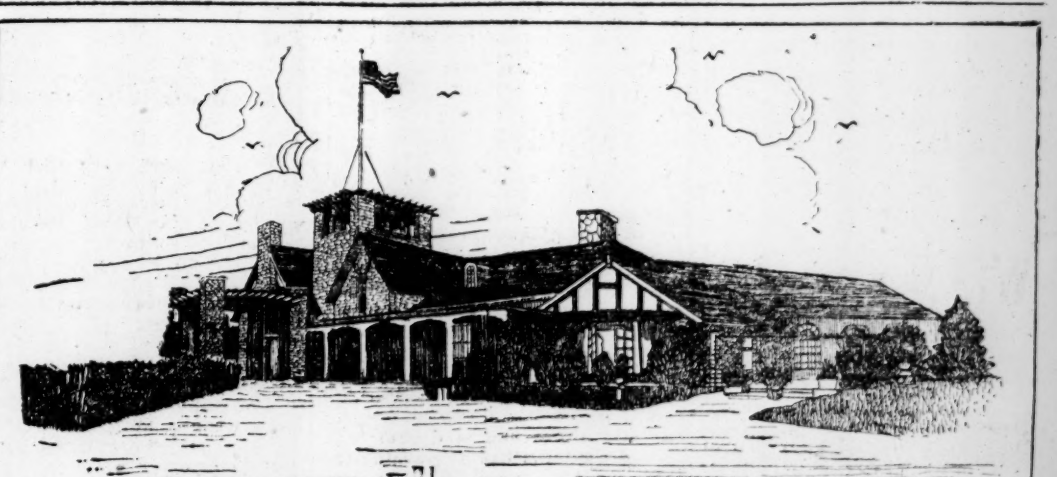

Duke's Home-Made Mayonnaise

is made under the personal direction of the most famous cook in the Carolinas, and with exactly the same ingredients as you yourself use. It is not a cooked dressing, but a fresh egg, home-made mayonnaise packaged in glass jars that will keep it indefinitely. Not even in your own kitchen can you make such delicious mayonnaise—flavored as perfectly as DUKE'S.

JUST DRAGGED SO WEAKENED

Florida Lady Was In a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful, and Got Well.

Mountstown, Pa.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during change of life, Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, of this place, said:

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up.

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling.

"I would get depressed and out of heart.

"I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse.

"I had heard of Cardui, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results.

"I took one bottle (of Cardui), then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so I kept it up.

"Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well, and all right.

"Cardui did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

Cardui has stood the test of extensive use, for more than forty years, in the treatment of troubles common to women.

Good druggists, everywhere, sell Cardui, the woman's tonic. Try it.

WOMAN AVOIDS AN OPERATION

Hope Nearly Gone, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her

Star, N. C.—"My monthly spells gave me so much trouble, sometimes lasting two weeks. I was treated by two doctors without relief and they both said I had to have an operation. I had my trouble four years and was unfit to do anything, and had given up all hope of ever getting any better. I read about your medicine in the 'Primitive Baptist' paper and decided to try it. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for about seven months and now I am able to do my work. I shall never forget your medicine and you may publish this if you want to as it is true."

—Mrs. J. F. HURSEY, Star, N. C.

Here is another woman who adds her testimony to the many whose letters we have already published, proving that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound often restores health to suffering women even after they have gone so far that an operation is deemed advisable. Therefore it will surely pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to try it.

Judge? Recent dispatches have indicated that he was failing physically and mentally and that his condition was such as to cause grave concern in such a situation, would not the military party be in complete control and dictate the appointment of a new premier who would upset many calculations about the forthcoming conference?

Quick Action Foreseen.

The question it is believed both in state department and Japanese circles here, will be answered immediately because of the need, in view of the impending conference, of a new director of foreign policies without delay.

Baron Goto, now mayor of Tokyo but an ex-minister of foreign affairs, is regarded as a likely candidate to the premiership, and if the party in power collapses with the loss of its leader, Viscount Kato, leader of the opposition party in Japan, might possibly succeed to the vacancy.

Baron Tanaka, former minister of war, is regarded here as another logical candidate.

The untimely death of the Japanese premier has cast not only gloom but uncertainty over the coming arms conference. Optimism, for the moment, has been succeeded by a sort of intangible depression.

The fate of the conference—and perhaps future peace—is held to rest in the hands of a sick emperor in the Far East. Both may hinge upon his choice for a successor to the late premier.

OFFICIAL WORD NOT RECEIVED.

Washington, November 4.—Brief and undated cables to the state department bringing word of the assassination of Premier Takashi Hara, of Japan, have created a sensation in the national capital.

It was enhanced by the fact neither the Japanese embassy nor the Japanese delegates to the arms conference had received any official information whatever up to a late hour Friday from their own foreign office in Tokyo.

The state department dispatches announced that Hara had been attacked and stabbed by an assassin Friday evening in the Tokyo railroad station. A later dispatch declared he had succumbed to his injuries.

These advices from the American embassy at Tokyo were followed by official calls by Secretary Hughes on both Japanese Ambassador Shidehara and the Japanese arms delegates to express the condolence of this nation. He also called instructions to Ambassador Warren at Tokyo to call and personally express the deep regrets of the American government to the Japanese foreign office.

President Harding expressed himself as "profoundly shocked."

Meantime, state department and Press Association office wires were kept not by Japanese statesmen asking details. The embassy had heard nothing and its spokesmen could not understand it. As late as 6 o'clock Prince Tokugawa, one of the Japanese delegates, when interviewed by the United News was plainly dismayed.

"I still hope that the report is only a rumor," he said, "but I fear the premier is really dead. We have received no official information whatever. There is the remote possibility that some one else named Hara was killed—there are so many Haras in Japan. If he is dead, I wonder why the official telegram has not reached us."

The death of the Japanese premier will not alter the plans for opening the arms conference, November 12, it was stated authoritatively. It is likely, however, that some of the contemplated social functions of the Japanese will be called off, including a reception to have been tendered the delegates from Nippon Saturday night by the Japanese ambassador.

KILLING OF PREMIER MAY AFFECT MEETING

Informed of the death of Hara and given the report that the assassin was rumored to be a Korean student, said:

"All of us in authority here naturally are horrified at learning this news. We are especially distressed because that tragedy comes at a time when we are trying to get around the table to establish good will among peoples. It is a very unhappy thing."

Depends on Successor.

Much depends now, it is generally admitted, on whom is selected to succeed Hara. The present Japanese delegation carry his instructions and a new premier might alter them entirely. Were the new premier to assume a position too far afield from that advocated by Hara, there is reason to believe the whole conference might be thrown into confusion. The present delegation reflects Hara's views, it was made clear by Prince Tokugawa.

"We are all—Baron Shidehara, Admiral Baron Kato and myself—pledged not only to do that which is for the good of Japan, but for the peace of the world," the prince said.

Prince Tokugawa himself was spoken of for the premiership just before Hara was named by the emperor. Admiral Kato is regarded as another possible choice. It is assumed, however, that the fact that both of these statesmen are in Washington now might influence the decision of the emperor.

And here again, is another question worrying officials: What is the capacity of the emperor to

HEAD OF RED-CROSS PRAISES CHAIRMEN

Personnel chairmen of more than 200 Atlanta firms, who will assist during the Red Cross roll call, November 11-24, were praised by Chairman C. B. Bidwell, at their meeting held Friday night in the chamber of commerce auditorium.

"It is because of your splendid efforts that we can boast of co-operation on every side," said Mr. Bidwell. "And we are now thoroughly convinced that every one is working on a 100 per cent enrollment basis."

Miss Emma Habenicht, director of the nursing service in the Atlanta chapter, outlined the work of this department, and Robert S. Parker, vice chairman of the roll call, presented the work of the home service division.

"The Red Cross is the medium through which the ex-soldiers work for their government compensation claims and this peace time war work is essential. It must be maintained. The Red Cross workers have information available for veterans, with regard to the filling of claims and affidavits that lawyers do not have, and can render untold service to the disabled men in adjusting their claims."

Many talks were made by representatives who were present, among them being Miss Penfield, of the southeastern Express company, and Graham West, who represented the employees of the city of Atlanta.

The plans outlined were met with enthusiastic response and Chairman Bidwell feels confident that the roll call will be a success, with these competent assistants ready to help.

THREE CONVICTED IN PEONAGE CASE

court show mercy to the defendants with the exception of Erwin Morris. When the verdict and recommendation was read, Mrs. Erwin Morris, who sat near her husband, collapsed and sobbed.

"I need not say that it always pains me to impose a sentence on a young man, as I have stated so repeatedly," the court said. "Crime among young men is getting so common that it alarms me greatly, indeed."

Judge Sibley stated that, in his opinion, the jury could not have done otherwise than to convict the four men. He said that he was satisfied that the negro had been the victim of a community action to force the negro to pay his debts.

The defendants were acquitted of a murder charge growing out of the peonage case several months ago in Clayton county. They were charged with shooting into a negro house and killing an aunt of the peon on the night of the illegal arrest of Rabin.

WATSON SHOWS GIBBET WAS USED IN FRANCE

Conwell, overseas war veteran and a student at the University of Pennsylvania, who has offered to aid Senator Watson in substantiating the charges.

Conwell forwarded two pictures and his story of the hanging to Senator Watson today. The pictures, Conwell said, were taken by another soldier, Asger G. Cohn, of 511 Concord avenue, New York city.

"We were with evacuation hospital detachment No. 6," said the university student, "when news of the proposed hanging was made public, some time in June or July, 1918. We, with the members of another hospital detachment and a large number of infantrymen, were invited to witness it. A hastily built scaffold was erected at Bazille-sur-Meuse, where my outfit was stationed at the time. Although the hanging had all the aspects of the execution of an official court-martial, we were never told officially why the man had to die. Many rumors were current among the doughboys, and the one given the most weight was that the man had committed a murder" following an attack on a girl.

Hanged in Uniform.

"Many officers, including an army chaplain, were present at the execution, but what surprised me most was the fact that the man was hanged in his uniform. It had always been my belief that hanging was a disgrace, and, therefore, the man should be shorn of his insignia before going to the gallows."

"Thousands of us turned out to attend the execution.

The photographs sent to Senator

Watson showed the soldier swinging from the gallows and preparations for the execution.

In explaining how the pictures were obtained in defiance of the army regulations, Conwell said:

"We hid our cameras under our coats and selected positions where all eyes were riveted on the hanging. Private Cohn and myself reached our cameras over the shoulders of the men in front of us and made the snapshots. Cohn's films turned out all right, but mine were blurred. He has the film in his possession now."

Conwell is a Philadelphian and lives at 5028 Spruce street. He told his story at the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity house, 3517 Locust street, where he is a member.

EX-JOILIER HERE DENIES CHARGES.

Attacking the truth of an alleged specific instance of illegal execution in the hanging of a negro soldier at evacuation hospital No. 6, in France, in June or July, 1918, which was described by Senator Watson in a letter from an ex-serviceman of Philadelphia on the floor of the senate Thursday, W. R. Roberts, a former jailer at Georgia Tech, stated that the negro was given full privilege of formal court-martial and was hanged with due process of military law.

Roberts said he was regimental sergeant major of the Judge Advocate's department stationed at Bordeaux at the time of the execution in question. He added that he handled all court records in the case and knew that all were regular in form.

"The negro soldier," he declared, "was charged with attacking a French peasant woman over 60 years of age. In addition to being convicted by court-martial the negro was identified four times out of his company by the aged woman."

COMMITTEE PROBE IS REORDERED.

Washington, November 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Investigation by a special committee of the charges of Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia, that American soldiers in France were hanged without trial and shot by officers of arms, was ordered today when the senate, after three hours' discussion, unanimously reordered the inquiry.

The special committee, headed by Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, will meet next Monday to determine proper procedure, but it is expected several days will then elapse before hearings are begun while Senator Watson is gathering his evidence.

Another speech by the Georgia senator in support of his charges, wrangling between senators over the wording of the inquiry resolutions and parliamentary mixups preceded the final order for the investigation to proceed. The senate finally and unanimously adopted a new and amended resolution directing the inquiry and further empowering the special committee to subpoena persons and papers.

Program Fails.

The program issued yesterday for a motion to discharge the committee did not materialize. Instead, Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina, introduced a new resolution, which was adopted with an amendment, declaring that the inquiry should be into Senator Watson's charges and not an investigation of the senator himself. From the resolution giving the committee power to act in the case, another amendment struck out a statement relative to investigating Senator Watson to appear before the committee. The committee's course in this respect, members said, would be determined later.

Senator Simmons, at the conclusion of the debate, said that Senator Watson was satisfied with the amended resolutions and would not doubt submit his evidence to the special committee. Earlier, Mr. Watson had challenged republicans to expel him, declared for debate in the open senate and asked why an effort should be made to "entrap" and "silence" him before a committee. He denounced "whitewashing committee reports" and said they were not read.

To Give Support.

The war department is preparing to give its fullest support to the senate investigation, taking the position that the accusations of the Georgia senator constitute a blot on the good name of the army unless a full investigation is held. Secretary Weeks has said he hopes the inquiry is carried until all the facts have been established, and is understood to have offered to put at the disposal of the committee the facilities of the army in arriving at the truth.

Edge Opens Debate.

The fight over the senator's charges opened today when the senate met at 10 o'clock, an hour early to take up the affair. Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, began the debate with a criticism of Senator Watson for presenting photographs yesterday of a gallows where a soldier had been executed after a court-martial, the New Jersey senator said, of a "brutal" and "barbaric" 7-year-old girl. Senator Edge declared the incident could not be "camouflaged" and that the issue was as to the truth of the charges of illegal hangings.

In a spirited speech, Senator Watson said his information regarding 21 alleged hangings of soldiers without trial came from a former soldier who said he had seen the gallows and had been told by a gallows guard that this number was hanged. His informant, Senator Watson said, would face the senate and answer all questions.

The French government and General Lafayette was criticized by the Georgia senator on commenting on a statement of Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, that the senator's charges were "preposterous and incredible."

Scores Lafayette.

Referring to Mr. Baker's statement that France was a "civilized country" and that word of any illegal executions would have spread quickly, Senator Watson said that France had charged America for trenches and playgrounds used by American troops.

"Oh, yes, France is not a howling wilderness, but a civilized country," the Georgia senator continued. "From which Lafayette came upon a written contract made with Silas Dean, pledging this country to make him a major general before he would leave France and come to America; and he did not have sense enough to draft a company of soldiers, besides which he snuffed, some of these days when somebody gets up here and blows off about Lafayette, I mean to take him down a peg or two. I know Lafayette and Washington knew him, and it was not Washington who had him released from that Austrian prison into which he was put when the French army chased him with the intent to kill. It was Napoleon Bonaparte, in the treaty of Campo-Formio. Yes, I knew Lafayette. He betrayed every French government that trusted him and the only independent command he ever had in America came very near getting hanged by Benedict Arnold, and it was only the James river that saved Lafayette and his command from being captured."

Scope of Probe.

Senators differed widely during the three hours of debate, over the scope of the inquiry. Senators Borah, of Idaho; Johnson, of California, and Jones, of Washington, declared that it should be without restriction into all of the statements made by Senator Watson. Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, proposed to limit the inquiry by specific amendment, to the charges of illegal hangings and shootings. He was supported by Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota, and Senator Simmons said he took the resolution to refer to the specific charges. Senator Lenroot stated that there was "a general understanding" on the matter, and did not press his amendment, but exception to Mr. Lenroot's observation was taken by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri.

After this, and a parliamentary dispute or two, the senate made no change in the resolution mentioning Senator Watson's charges generally. Committee members said privately that they intended to limit the inquiry generally to the principal charges made by Mr. Watson without going into a general investigation of conduct of army officers.

NOT TO CONSIDER AVIATION FUTURE

an obstacle would be put in the path of extensive development in the field of airship carriers.

Impossible to Limit.

Aside from these considerations

it will be pointed out, it is almost impossible to limit developments in aviation. It would be just as possible, it was declared, to control the menace that arises from developments in chemistry. For industrial and commercial purposes, it is necessary to permit great chemical industries to develop unhindered, and yet it was demonstrated by the Germans the most powerful of military weapons is had in these very industries.

Aviation will be developed in the coming years by private industries for commercial and industrial purposes, it is argued. In these industries will be found the basis for military developments at any time the demand arises. The airship, developed for commercial purposes, would have to be changed for military uses but that would require but little time, it is said.

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. MINTYRE

New York, November 4.—On the knob of a hill far up on the Hudson is an old French chateau whose veranda gives a majestic view of the purple Palisades. Late in the afternoon, the chateau was hung with tapestry. A jazz band with skillets and cow bells has been installed, and uncouth Japs serve viands and what not.

It is a droll place for a party of pleasure hunters. Gay hands on the loose, flirtatious wives, brokers from the happy slumping ground—Wall street's new appellation—stage-door Japs and sycophants race there in motors to dodge the aridity of Broadway.

There are artistic, cozy little stalls decorated in sombre hints with pink-covered lights shedding a dull effulgence. Old bucks, who may be fathers, but in the jovial atmosphere are not even plain dads, but sweet daddies, delfy swines of gaudy or assuaging the whimsy.

At each table are silver buckets in which cracked ice smothered the label of good old Pol Roget—Pol is welcome to the free ad now. In a word, the place is smart. Waiters are discreet and efficient, and high. The other night, when the moon was riding high over the river and the crowds had settled down for the coming of dawn, a mastodon motor car purged up the gravelled roadway. A sleek young blond left it with a flourish, and a crowd of students the theatrical firmament in letters of fire.

She was muffled in a chinchilla opera wrap. They were seated near the dance floor, where a orchestra of a few strings and a piano were playing. Suddenly the shrill note of a police whistle was heard on the lawn. The place erupted white-faced men and women. All escaped but the proprietor.

Left between the chinchilla wrap, which fur experts have appraised at $35,000. It remains unclaimed at an outlying police station. In the lining was sewn a number of white pellets and a hypodermic needle.

Even the Child's restaurant recently opened on Fifth avenue has joined the vanguard of avenue aristocracy. There is not a sign of any kind on its front to tell just what place it is.

It is a beastly country this what with silly prohibition and all that sort of rot. Thomas Perry, who has been dear of London, you know, on the Toms—well, dash it all, the laddie dived through a plate-glass window on Thirty-fourth street just to embrace what looked to him like a model young woman.

The young woman actually lost her head. Fearfully stupid, fearfully. Thomas was about to wrap up her head in a seakins coat that she wore when a bobby—a chap named—let's see what was the blighter's name. Oh, yes, his name was Mulcahy or some such thing.

Anyway, they took Thomas away for a ride in the pie wagon, and he says he's going to take the next boat right back home. Never again will he approach a wax woman with amatory intent. They are not to be trusted, these things, hold their arms out lovingly and tantalizingly.

Claims a la carte! On Mulberry street the vendors place rows of claims on a block of ice and cart it along the street, riming a bell. The price is two claims for a cent, and when customers have finished eating, if they wish it, they are offered a towel.

All the Fifth avenue buses have a placard on the side reading "Civility." It is a unique campaign on the part of the bus company for better and more cordial relations between patrons and the men who man the buses. During the first month of the campaign 4,900,000 passengers were carried, and only 12 complaints were received.

ASSAULTS GAS COMPANY TELEPHONE HEARING
VALUATION BY ADAR HAS BEEN POSTPONED

Maintaining that Forrest Adair's valuation of Georgia Railway and Power company's properties should not be accepted because of his sympathy for the company, Dr. L. N. Sturt has asked the Georgia Railroad Commission to postpone the hearing on the matter of reduced gas rates for the city of Atlanta and vicinity.

In his statement, Dr. Sturt declared that he had no objection to the commission's action, but that he had referred to himself, even though the alleged statement which he so vigorously denies has been distorted for his own purpose.

The Georgia Railroad Commission took occasion to refer to the land power commission, for the Georgia Railway and Power company, by Mr. Sturt, as being "one of the witnesses" in the matter of the gas rates.

In his statement, Dr. Sturt declared that he had no objection to the commission's action, but that he had referred to himself, even though the alleged statement which he so vigorously denies has been distorted for his own purpose.

As a matter of fact, I did not charge the Georgia Railway and Power company with being a "witness" in the matter of the gas rates. I only stated that I had referred to myself, even though the alleged statement which he so vigorously denies has been distorted for his own purpose.

Allen Enjoined From Annoying Former Employer

W. S. Allen, a bookkeeper for the Excellent Medicine company, with offices at 261 South Pryor street, was enjoined from annoying his former employer, Harris Bergman, treasurer and sales manager for the medicine company.

According to the petition Bergman attempted to discharge the bookkeeper from the employ of the medicine company when he found the latter, so he alleges, erasing some entries from one of the books and asked about them. The petition alleges that Allen replied that he had made the entries and he was rubbing them out and then informed Bergman that he would not take any orders from him, Bergman.

The petition sets out that Bergman "fired" Allen, but that the latter refused to be fired and insists on holding his job and exercising custody of the books. The court asked for an injunction which was granted and the hearing on the permanent injunction was set for November 12.

BOLD FUR ROBBERS ARE UNDER ARREST, OFFICERS BELIEVE

With Sam Corley behind the bars at police station Friday, City Detectives Cowan and Gillespie expressed their belief that all parties concerned with the recent robbery of the Long and Hot Shop, 10 Peachtree street, in which many thousands of dollars worth of valuable furs were taken, were now under arrest.

Corley is the third to be taken into custody for Atlanta authorities. He was arrested by the chief of police at the hotel following his escape from Birmingham, Mo. The others being held are R. E. Davis, 24, a metal worker who gave his home as St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Jean Stanton, a telephone operator, who gave her age as twenty and residence as Columbus, Ohio.

According to the officers, a complete confession has been obtained from Corley and Davis, in which the girl was implicated. The girl has maintained strict silence about the affair, they state.

Two pawnshop dealers in Birmingham are understood to have been implicated by the boys in their confession. It is claimed that some of the more expensive fur pieces were sold to them at absurdly low prices.

Because of the size of the Decatur church, the bishop and pastor very much desire that members attend their respective churches and give Morris Brown their unstinted support.

The Salubrity of Hard Water.

Hard water may have its economical faults for laundry purposes and may even do all the things to milady's complexion that some beauty experts say it does (though I don't believe this latter libel). But for drinking purposes we are bound to admit that hard water is all right from every point of view save one.

Taking conjecture first, there is an insistent popular theory that the lime in hard water is likely to cause hardening of the arteries if you drink too much—water. Nobody needs dash the cup from his lips if it is brimming with good hard water, for that while the hard water will no more harden the arteries than it will harden the vox populi.

The healthy human carcass contains two pounds of high grade lime, mostly in the form of lime phosphate in the bones, teeth and muscles. The body must get excited over the phosphate part of it, for that doesn't mean anything at all like the buncombe of the nostrum mongers. There is a daily waste of about 10 grains of lime in normal metabolism or life processes.

In some circumstances there is a daily need for much more than 10 grains to maintain the body's supply of lime; thus the expectant mother and the nursing mother must supply considerable quantities of this element for the growth and nutrition of the infant, but a quart of milk will furnish the lime the mother requires for the infant's demands.

A diet of meats, sugars, cereals and fats, such as a great many good citizens subsist on, furnishes inadequate amount of lime, and requires a great deal of lime to be supplied by the mother's milk.

Governor Thomas W. Hardwick has tendered the appointment as special counsel for the state railroad commission to succeed Judge James K. Hines, resigned, to Judge J. J. Flynt, of Griffin, according to a message received Friday from Griffin, the home of Judge Flynt. In the message it was stated that Judge Flynt had not decided whether or not he will accept the appointment. Judge Hines resigned recently to accept the appointment as associate justice of the supreme court to succeed Judge Walter F. George, resigned.

The names of Judge Flynt, Walter A. Sims, of Atlanta, and Edgar Watkins, of Atlanta, have been mentioned in connection with the position as special counsel. The appointment will be made by Governor Hardwick and the members of the state railroad commission will not be asked to endorse any person for the position it was learned at the commission office Friday.

Judge Flynt declared in Griffin Friday that due to pressing legal business he has not had time to give the matter of accepting the appointment full consideration. He stated he would give Governor Hardwick his reply in a few days. Judge Flynt is now judge of the city court of Griffin. He is a former president of the Georgia state senate, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, chairman of the state democratic convention and has been prominent in Georgia politics for many years.

THE TRAFFIC PROBLEM.

Some time ago the police board proposed that Atlanta employ a traffic expert to come to this city, study the local traffic problem, and tell how to solve it.

Council promptly and positively turned it down on the theory that Atlanta knows all it needs to know about regulating traffic—and that no other city can teach it anything!

That has steadily been our attitude with regard to the traffic problem.

And what is the result?

The government has just issued a statistical report, showing that during 1920 the per capita death rate from automobile accidents in Atlanta was greater than in any other southern city, except one, and with the exception of four cities, the highest in the United States!

The four exceptions are Los Angeles, Memphis, Hartford, and Youngstown, Ohio.

In Atlanta during the year covered by the report, men, women and children were killed by automobiles on the streets of Atlanta at the rate of 21.7 per 100,000 population.

In New York the death rate from this cause was 13.6; in Philadelphia, it was 12.3; in Birmingham, Ala., 12.7; in Chicago, 17.3; in New Orleans, 12.8; in Richmond, 6.9; in St. Louis, 13.4; and in Houston, Texas, it was only 5.7.

It is all right to say we know it all; but we know very little when it comes to safeguarding human life on our streets, otherwise our death rate from automobile accidents would not be more than four times that of Houston!

If Houston can regulate its traffic so as to keep its death rate down to 5.7 there is no reason why Atlanta cannot do as well; and the fact that we have not done any where nearly so well proves conclusively that we do not know as much about handling traffic as does Houston.

And Houston does not know it all, neither does any other city!

If this we-know-it-all policy had been applied to our fire department as it has been to our methods of regulating traffic, Atlanta would today be using hand pumps and man-drawn fire apparatus.

We took the opposite position with reference to fire protection, and we have today a fire department that ranks with the best in the country.

In the matter of protecting human life from the traffic hazard, we stand almost at the foot of the list!

On Fifth Avenue, New York, used by hundreds of vehicles to every one that uses Peachtree-Whitehall, the traffic moves as rapidly up and down, and with little confusion and life-hazard; while during the busy hours of the day there is a continuous jam and congestion on the busy downtown streets of Atlanta, and interminable time required to pass through the heart of the city.

New York traffic is directed by men who know their business; while in Atlanta it is handled by men who do not know how to direct it, and who lack experience and expert training!

Busy and bustling and ponderous as New York is, its death rate from automobile accidents was only 13.6 per 100,000 inhabitants, while Atlanta's was 21.7!

That tells the whole story; and yet council takes the position that no city can teach Atlanta anything about this business, for Atlanta knows it all.

There would be no objection to council assuming that attitude for its own self-gratification, but for the fact that automobiles are killing our good people at a rate that is truly horrifying!

The know-it-all system has failed to produce the desired results; and it is high time for Atlanta to be trying something else!

"LEAVE TO PRINT."

The humiliating experience of Congressman Blanton, of Texas, in being haled before the bar of the house the other day and reprimanded, by an overwhelming vote of his colleagues, for having had printed in the Congressional Record "language so indecent, obscene, vulgar and vile" as to render the record unamiable, undoubtedly will have a good effect in a disciplinary way, causing this and other members to "watch their step" in the future as never before.

It is doubtful if Mr. Blanton will soon again ask for "unanimous consent" to extend his remarks! But if it results in the restriction or abolition of the "leave to extend remarks" privilege of members of either house it will be a blessing.

That there is strong sentiment in congress against the free, unrestricted and often abused privilege of extending remarks and of printing "speeches" that were never delivered, was made apparent in connection with the Blanton incident.

After the reprimand had been delivered and the house was about to proceed with other business, Representative Pou, of North Carolina, arose, and the following dialogue ensued, as it is reported in the Congressional Record:

Mr. Pou: "Mr. Speaker, I ask permission to extend my remarks in the Record on this matter."

The Speaker: "The gentleman from North Carolina asks unanimous consent to extend his remarks in the Record on this matter. Is there objection?"

Mr. Pou: "Very briefly."

The Speaker: "The chair hears no objection."

Mr. Cochran: "Mr. Speaker, I object to what?"

The Speaker: "The gentleman objects to what?"

Mr. Cochran: "To extension of the remarks."

The Speaker: "By the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Pou):"

Mr. Cochran: "By anybody, after my experience which we have been considering today."

Mr. Pou: "Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman is too late."

Mr. Cochran: "If I am belated, I will withdraw it. I just wanted to express my feelings in regard to the matter."

Every issue of the Record is burdened with columns and pages of matter purporting to be addresses delivered from the floor of one or the other houses of congress, but which was written, perhaps, by a non-member, never delivered, and inserted by "unanimous consent" in the record of the proceedings of the day—put into the hands of the public under absolutely false pretenses—by virtue of the "leave to print" prerogative.

Seldom, of course, is matter of this kind particularly objectionable, or of a character that would bar it from delivery in debate; but it is printed under false representations usually either because of its ponderous bulk—being so long, drawn-out and uninteresting that the members have neither time nor patience to listen to it, or else because the member sponsoring it lacks ability to gain recognition by the chair or to deliver it from the floor.

If this privilege of "extending remarks" were restricted to the bounds of reason, or, better still, if it were abolished altogether, the effect unquestionably would be to raise the standard of the day-by-day contents of the Congressional Record, as well as that of the personnel of the senate and house.

Mr. Cochran's point is well taken!

Don't overlook the important fact that a well-stocked coal bin beats the pile of genius in warming the rough old winter.

Several Regulars Out as Tech And Clemson Struggle Today

"Doc" Stewart, Tiger Coach, Expected to Un-cork Brand-New Defensive System.

BY JOHN STATION.

In spite of all the arguments over the possibility of the Georgia-Dartmouth game being played on Grant field, there will be a match there this afternoon. The Clemson Tigers, from that metropolis of South Carolina, Clemson College, will take on the Tech Yellow Jackets in a little four-round bout. It is needless to say that the bout will be interesting from start to finish. Last year, in order to save the varsity for the Georgetown game, Coach Alex started the second varsity. And indeed, he very wisely finished that same team. In spite of the protests of those on the bench.

This year, he is going to do something else. Clemson is very much stronger this year than last, and all of the fellows need to get in all of the practice possible. So he will, in all probability, start the strongest line-up possible.

Clemson has always brought some peculiar kind of defense down to combat the jump shift. And usually it is a good one, too. You students of football will remember the marvelous success of the Clemson defense in 1919. At the end of the first half the score was 0-0 in favor of Clemson. It was only in the last two periods that Tech was able to shove over four touchdowns and take it from me, folks, we were powerful proud to get away with a 7-0 victory.

Of course you remember how Pinkney Hunt made a hero of himself by rushing into the scene of conflict, and pushing over a touchdown. And take it from me, folks, we were powerful proud to get away with a 7-0 victory.

Interesting Game.

So that is one of the things that will make the game interesting to watch. They may use the same defense as last year and again they may not. Most probably not, for the coaching system at Clemson is entirely different this year. There is an entirely new personnel at the head of the Tiger athletics. Dr. Stewart is quite some student of football, and probably has his own ideas about breaking up a shift play. Out in Nebraska they use a tackle back position that has proved mighty effective. Whether he will use a Nebraska defense or not is of course a matter of conjecture. Or again he may use seven men in the line of scrimmage. In fact you can't tell exactly what the wizard from the west will do. So here will be something worth watching. It's a snap that he will use some method out of the ordinary to combat the jump shift.

Clemson has a different offense from anything that you will see around in this part of the country. It is a combination of the Minnesota shift, and with some of Dr. Stewart's own ideas. Before the line shifts the whole team is lined up in the column of squads formation. There are three lines, two of them containing four men and the third only three. At a given signal they execute a sudden right and get into a strong running formation. They've got some good plays, it must be admitted. They are due to gain some ground, in fact great gains of it. For one would imagine that the Tech team will get in all of the defensive practice possible. Which is perfectly natural in view of the Georgetown and Auburn games to follow. It is less tiresome to play on the defense than offense. And besides we need the defensive practice.

Regulars Out.

The team will take their places today minus the services of Captain Harlan, Jimmy Brewster and probably "Dummy" Leley. Judy was out to practice yesterday for the first time this week. He got some kind of poison in his system and is just now getting out of bed. Looks kind of peckish at present, but he will be in shape by next Saturday. Jimmy doesn't seem to persuade his shoulder that it is best for it to get well. At least that's how it appears from the sidelines. It is healing very slowly, but there is a deal of satisfaction in knowing that it is getting better. "Dummy" may start the game, but will not play very long if he does. Coach Alex does not intend to take any chances with him getting banged up for the Georgetown and Auburn games.

The team that will start will be Amis, at center; Davis and Lebey or Frye, at guards; Johnson and Lyman, at tackles and Cornell and At Station, on the wings. The backfield will stack up with McDonough, at quarter; Ferst and Barron, at halves and Welchel or Farnsworth at fullback in the absence of Captain Judy.

Notre Dame Vs. Army.

West Point, N. Y., November 2.—Notre Dame's football squad which meets the Army here tomorrow, arrived from South Bend, Ind., at noon today and will likely be in the afternoon on the Cadet's gridiron. The Cadet squad also was out for light practice.

These Suits were purchased from a merchant in Indiana who cannot sell medium weight suits after Nov. 1, owing to weather conditions. This merchant had to do one of two things—keep these suits until next spring or sell them to some Southern merchant at a sacrifice. Needing the money, he decided on the latter. This is your chance to get a real high-grade, All-Wool, Hand-Tailored Suit for a little money.

HAGER'S CREW PLAYS T. H. S.

There will be one of the best prep football games in the history of the City Prep league this morning at 10 o'clock on Grant field when the Tech High eleven coached by Tolbert meets the University School for Boys' team, coached by Fred G. Hager, a Georgetown star. The admission price is 50 cents.

This will be the first time that these two teams have ever met and there is certain to be a lively scrap for this reason. This is the second year that university has put out a football eleven, and they are making a record to be proud of. They have met defeat only one time this year and that came at the hands of the Georgia Freshmen, by a 6-0 score. Tech High on the other hand, has been beaten twice, by Gordon and Monroe.

Strong Ends.

The game this morning will be one of passing against passing and punt against punt. Both teams have two exceptionally good ends and a passer that rarely ever misses his target. In Captain Richardson and Curran Tech High has two ends that are hard to beat, while Freeman and Boswell, of University, both play their position well. Captain Laird does the passing for University, and Chestnut passes for Tech High.

CADETS WIN FROM B. H. S.

BY E. N. JONES.

At last dope has come into its own. G. M. A. slated to whip Boys' High, did it yesterday, and did it well. The score was 21-6. They went up against a team that was willing and ready to give their last drop of blood in defense of their school. Boys' High fought, and fought well. They went down, but never ceased to show that stuff for which they are famous—grit.

Sensational runs were frequent. Particularly the one by William Russell, a hitherto almost unknown man in prep athletic circles. Twice did this wide-awake B. H. S. man recover fumbles. The first one recovered resulting in the lone touchdown which adorns the Boys' score card. The second time he netted him about 20 yards. Boys' High has a fine man in Russell, and promising material for next year.

Much Fumbling.

The whole rucus was marked by unwarranted and costly fumbles. G. M. A. had two or three chances for other touchdowns but due to the grease on their fingers lost the ball to their wide-awake opponents. Little punting marked the progress of the game, but those attempted were much to the credit of the men behind them.

In the second quarter G. M. A. intercepted a forward pass and ran for a touchdown, but to their great disappointment the piskin was ordered to the starting point, for, as the elated player dashed down the field, he placed his foot out of bounds.

It was a swell game with few casualties. Great credit is due G. M. A. for their consistent playing. The line was a team in itself, opening up for their backs in admirable fashion.

Boys' High' team is due less credit as a whole, but for most of her gains and tackles were made by a few stars, namely, Levinson, Wallace, Carlington (captain), Poole, State and particularly, Russell.

This game had a lot of bearing on the city prep championship. It now lies between G. M. A., U. S. B. and Tech High.

The Line-ups. BOYS' HIGH. Pos. G. M. A. ... Kelly. ... I. E. ... Levinson. ... I. E. ... McIntyre. ... McDonald. ... C. ... Bond. ... Davis. ... R. G. ... State. ... Baker. ... F. L. ... Fitts. ... MARIST ELEVEN MEETS GAINESVILLE TODAY

The Marist college eleven and the fast Gainesville team will meet this morning on the Marist field at 10 o'clock. Both teams have been working hard for the game and the respective coaches report that their cohorts will be in tip-top shape for the fray this morning. Last week Gainesville defeated Fulton High by the score of 63 to 0, and so it seems that the two teams are about even.

WARRENTON BEATEN BY MADISON HIGH

Madison, Ga., November 4.—(Special.)—Madison High defeated Warrenton High today, 14 to 0, in a clean, hard game. Broughton, left half for Madison, got away for 65 yards and a touchdown in the first quarter, and Hume carried the ball across in the second period, Stovall kicking goal each time.

Georgia Bulldogs Face Supreme Test Against Virginia Today

Monster Crowd of Alumni of Both Institutions to See the Struggle at Athens.

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF.

Georgia's Bulldogs are going to have it put squarely up to them today in Athens. Their metal will be tested. Before they are through with their Virginia game, the south will know whether or not Coach Stegeman has developed a really remarkable football machine. The already knows that the Georgia football team is good. Its 10-7 game with Harvard. Its 7-0 victory over Auburn prove this, if the Bulldogs didn't win another game this year. But if Georgia comes through this game today with flying colors, we'll all know that Stegeman has produced something that will live in the annals of the university and in southern collegiate circles.

Our best football strategists, trainers and diplomats all agree that it is difficult to keep a football machine from slumping horribly after a victory which the full capacity of the team's strength was expended. It generally takes about three weeks for a team to recover from one crucial game enough to be anywhere nearly ready for another.

No less an authority than John W. Heisman, who knows the mental attitude of college football players better than any man alive, once told me that it is impossible to have a football team to reach its finest edge for more than one game.

And here is Georgia that puts its all in the Harvard battle, and comes back and puts its all in the Auburn battle, compelled today to put its all and then some in the Virginia battle. It's a tough job. Georgia may measure up to it. The team is not without many of the qualities of greatness, but the enthusiasm of Georgia supporters who are looking for a hollow victory over the Old Dominion had better look again. I figure that Georgia will be fortunate to win by one touchdown.

Virginia Ready for Fray.

I don't content that Virginia has a more powerful football team or a more dangerous football team than Auburn possesses, but Virginia has been pointing for this Georgia scrap ever since its victory over V. M. I. Virginia knows that Georgia will receive a high southern rating, and naturally the fanatics of the famous Charlottesville Institution know that the team that conquers Georgia is going to be rated even higher.

For that reason, it is entirely reasonable that the reports that have come south that Virginia made no tremendous effort to check Princeton, and took that defeat last Saturday merely as a medicinal course in preparation for Georgia, are not ill-founded.

Again, we have reliable information that Virginia has been working persistently in the past two weeks on the development of an overhead attack. Scouts for the Old Dominion have evidently taken the word back home that Georgia's air defense is vulnerable. Unless I miss my guess we are going to see the F. V. V.'s wasting mighty little time in trying to smash the Georgia line. That thing isn't done and Virginia knows it.

In the face of all this preparation, if Georgia gives Virginia a whole lot of chance, if Georgia is going to be at top form today, Georgia clearly indicated that the Red and Black had gone back a bit from its Harvard game. There was an uncertainty about Georgia's attack that was not corrected until that brief spurt when the Stegeman machine rammed over the lone touchdown.

It is hard to suppose that Georgia today will be as good as the Georgia that faced Auburn, even if Georgia had all her attacking resources in the game. Georgia isn't. The contract with Virginia calls for the playing of no freshmen. Georgia's backfield reserve is largely freshmen. A team needs backfield reserves and needs them badly particularly at this season of the year, and particularly after a bitter battle as the game against Auburn.

Georgia Still Favored.

Despite all these things, Georgia ought to win by a small margin, unless football fortune intervenes. The inherent strength of the Red and Black line is something that is hard to overcome. It takes a team of remarkable power or remarkable resourcefulness to score against Georgia. It takes only one break on the part of the opposing team to permit Georgia to score. And opposing teams generally make one break, especially when opposed by a rush line like Georgia's.

It's going to be a colorful football day at Athens. During the morning there will be the unveiling of the memorial to Von Gammon, the athlete who gave his life for football in 1897. This memorial was made possible by the University of Virginia. There will be representatives of all great institutions at Georgia's exercises.

Then the Chi Phi chapter of the university will unveil its memorial to chapter members who gave their lives for their nation during the world war.

And during the morning there will be a rip-roaring prep battle between Riverside and G. M. C. which will probably determine the state championship.

There's no doubt but that a great football throng will see all this bickering. To accommodate the Atlanta crowd, Fred Geisler, of the Seaboard, is operating a special solid Pullman train, which will leave the terminal station at 9:30 this morning and will leave Athens on the return trip at 6:15 p. m. eastern time, enabling Atlantans to get back in time for supper.

PETRELS ARE 41-0 WINNERS

De Land, Fla., November 4.—(Special.)—The Oglethorpe Petrels made a fine start and a brilliant close to their game with Stetson today, winning 41 to 0.

The Petrels got away to a good start, scoring within four minutes after the game got under way. Turner and Parr made substantial gains and placed the ball on Stetson's eight-yard line, Varnadoe carrying it over. The outstanding feature of the game was the brilliant work of Morris, who scored one touchdown, kicked two field goals and kicked goal after five touchdowns.

The remaining touchdowns were scored by Vickers, Stephens and Cooper. Three Oglethorpe players were hurt in the game. Stephens sustained an injured ankle; Crowe is thought to have a broken collarbone, and Runt Hamrick received a fresh hurt on an old wound. The Petrels leave for Atlanta tomorrow at noon, minus twenty blankets, five uniforms and a lot of personal property lost in the fire that destroyed Putnam Inn this morning.

LAVONIA WINS OVER HARTWELL ELEVEN

Lavonia, Ga., November 4.—(Special.)—Lavonia High defeated Hartwell High in a hard game here this afternoon, 7 to 0. It was a hard-fought game, and both teams deserve a great deal of credit. Captain Thomas, for Lavonia, played his greatest game, and his beautiful broken field running was a feature. He never failed for a long gain every time he carried the ball. Whitworth, Lavonia's fullback, ripped the Hartwell line for good gains. Lavonia's only touchdown resulted after a good end run by Thomas, who kicked goal. For Hartwell, Massey and Skelton played best.

VANDY PLAYS 'BAMA TODAY

University, Ala., November 4.—(Special.)—For the sixth time in gridiron history the Alabama Crimson tide is preparing to battle with the Vanderbilt Commodores. The time elapsed during piskin relations between these two institutions composes only two years short of a generation. Last year, the Crimson, after an 18-year wait, finally came off the field victorious over the Sea Captains. Every effort is being made to still hold the old Vandy jinx in check through the 1921 season.

Formerly the battle was not considered one of the major performances of the season, but for the last three years the annual meeting between the Tide and the Commodores has been one of the big features of the year. These games have always been of the closest variety, luck and breaks having more than their usual quota of importance in the contests. This uncertainty has given the annual classic produced by 'Bama and Vandy more than the usual share of interest that follows great football masterpieces.

New York, November 4.—If Princeton had lost every game this season, instead of dropping two, and if Harvard had been beaten in every contest instead of just one, that Princeton-Harvard game in the Tiger's lair Saturday would still be a great game. Even if the teams were playing to see which is really the world's worst football eleven, the game would be worth going to. For after all, Harvard is Harvard and Princeton is Princeton, and whenever the train meet, thousands of people are going to get together and shout and cheer and pray and afterwards cuss and discuss. That's what makes football.

But Doble is always sourest when the sweetest victories are in sight.

Fine Concert Marks Close Of Atlanta Ampico Week

Charles Cooper and Mme. Ethel Rust-Mellor, the former one of the most prominent and popular of young American pianists, and the latter a widely-known soprano of rare ability, charmed an appreciative audience of Atlanta music-lovers at the Auditorium Friday night in the recital which marked the climax of Ampico week here. Mr. Cooper offered three groups of selections, the first including the "Sonata in B Minor," the "Nocturne in F" and the Butterfly Etude; the second being composed of Moszkowski's "The Juggler," Liszt's "Liebestraum" and Godard's dainty "Valse Chromatique." "The Indian Lament," which appeared in the third group, was easily the feature of the evening's entertainment. Other numbers in this group being "Reconciliation," "Folkia" and the black key "Etude."

The rare charm of Mme. Rust-Mellor's voice was best displayed in her aria from "Pagliacci," which she sang with marked expression. The second appearance was in a group of tuneful selections from Ward-Stephens, Rogers and Spross. The remarkable powers of the preservation of music displayed by the Ampico, in a Chickering piano, were most forcibly drawn to the attention of the large audience. Miss Cooper's accompaniment was played by the Ampico, and to further prove the exact reproducing power of the Ampico, Mr. Cooper played parts of various melodies appearing on the program, the Ampico taking up the music where he left off and leaving the audience in wonder at the absolute lack of change of technique or tone.

The lighting effects were subdued throughout, the stage being almost in complete darkness at times, and people in the audience at times were of different opinion as to whether Mr. Cooper himself was actually playing or whether the Ampico was performing.

After the artist had played "The Indian Lament," the Ampico took up the refrain and repeated it with parallel exactitude and detail. The concert was one of the most thoroughly enjoyed ever offered local music-lovers, and the Ludden & Bates company, which is in charge of Ampico week activities, was given high praise for the high quality of the entertainment.

RUSH CITY WORK, URGES MAYOR KEY

Full Speed Ahead Asked in Order to Provide Work for Many Unemployed in Atlanta.

City council will be asked next Monday to authorize full speed ahead through the remainder of the year on street and sewer improvements, to provide work for the unemployed here.

Mayor Key addressed the street committee Friday afternoon urging that no abatement of street projects be permitted, as is usually done at this time of the year. He declared it a "crying shame" that the $8,550,000 bond issue has not been validated, but said that if the city would go on full tilt with street and sewer construction the unemployment situation would be greatly helped.

"We have 5,000 people in Atlanta without jobs," stated the mayor. "We would have an apparent deficit, but that money would be coming in again in a few months. It has been customary to allow street and sewer work to slacken during the winter months of the year, chiefly to make the budget balance."

"This time let us do all the street, sewer, curb and sidewalk work that we can do."

The committee unanimously endorsed his suggestion and voted to support whatever measures necessary to carry on the street and sewer projects at top speed during the approaching winter season.

A delegation of Whiteford avenue residents, including Judge Charles Whiteford Smith, John M. Miller and A. A. McCord, appeared before the committee and asked that the city proceed by the condemnation process to extend Whiteford avenue through private property to Fairview road in Druid Hills.

Forrest Adair, representing the Druid Hills Land company, through whose property the extension is proposed, opposed it. After hearing from both sides the committee voted to postpone action pending an opinion from the city attorney on the legal steps that would be necessary in the matter.

RECREATIONAL PARK PLANNED FOR STATE

Designation by the chief forester of the United States of a large area of north Georgia, comprising 25,000 acres, as a recreational park, to be known as the "Fitzgerald Recreational Park," will be sought immediately, it was announced Friday by Secretary of State S. G. McElendon, following a conference held by Secretary McElendon and H. O. Stabler, assistant district forester.

Secretary McElendon made public the plans formed at the conference in a letter to Miss Alice Baxter, representative of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, who will present it to the members of the federation at the annual convention to be held in Savannah next week.

Under the plan formed, Mr. Stabler returns to Washington to submit the plans to Colonel Greely, chief forester, and ask Colonel Greely to designate the 25,000 acres, which plot is now owned by the government, as a recreational park. By designating this area as a recreational park, government aid in its improvement can be made available immediately. To obtain its designation as a national park would require congressional action, and consequently much delay.

"By designating this beautiful section, which is located in one of the prettiest regions in the world, as a recreational park, it will be made available for use by the people of Georgia at once," Secretary McElendon said. "Camp sites will be

According to Secretary McElendon, this is the first important step taken toward development of the beautiful mountain section of Georgia as a recreational section. He said the government later will have millions of dollars to be used in constructing highways in national parks, and that some of this money will become available to Georgia.

Miss Baxter will present the plan to the women's clubs at Savannah, and Secretary McElendon said he believed Colonel Greely would make the official designation in time for announcement at the Savannah meeting.

Owners of beautiful homes on Highland Avenue and University Drive in University Park around Lanier University five years from now is, we think, a prediction equally conservative. Ten years ago Ponce de Leon Springs, now Ponce de Leon Ball Park, marked the limit of development. Five years later it had reached and included Druid Hills. Today it has moved on almost to the city limits of Decatur and is knocking at the doors of Emory and Lanier Universities. The trend of this great wave of development is to the northeast, and this part of the city excels all other sections in value and number of buildings erected in the past five years. We predict that within five years it will have surrounded both of these universities and extended miles beyond.

CANCER WEEK COMES TO CLOSE SATURDAY

With "National Cancer Week" approaching an end, leaders in Atlanta expressed optimism over the local campaign and said that similar reports have been received from all parts of the country.

According to plans laid last week, Saturday was to close the campaign here, but Dr. J. L. Campbell, of the Fulton County Medical society, states that the campaign will continue in Atlanta throughout November.

The only planned meeting here for Saturday will be at 8 o'clock Saturday night in Grady hospital for negroes and especially for negro nurses.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Dr. Bailey, of the Fulton County Medical society, will speak on cancer to the congregation at the Jewish temple on Pryor street.

Next week, Dr. E. D. Highsmith, of the county society, will speak to local labor unions in the Labor temple, 112 Trinity avenue, on "Cancer," stressing mainly the causes of the disease, the value of education in combating the evil, and pointing out the fact that cancer can be cured if treated in its incipient stage.

His lectures, which will be given Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock and Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, will be especially for street railway employees, among whom he has done relief work for a long time.

Throughout the present week the importance of the cancer evil has been stressed at club and parent-teachers' meetings. Mrs. Albert Thornton, Sr., president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, has pledged her support to the movement and it is expected that the women's clubs will ask members of the medical society to address them.

The main purpose of the movement is to educate the public and nurses to the realization that cancer can be cured if treated when first evidenced. It has also been pointed out that a person should immediately get good surgical treatment when the disease is acquired and that this plan is better than the use of radium or X-rays.

The value of the educational part of the movement is also proven by pointing out the fact that mortality caused by tuberculosis was reduced more than 29 per cent in the 20 years which followed the educational program inaugurated in 1900.

JUGO-SLAV RULER TAKES OATH TODAY

Belgrade, November 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—King Alexander will take the oath of office as a ruler of Jugo-Slavia tomorrow. Since his arrival here, he has resumed active direction of affairs. Reports that there is a probability of a change in the occupant of the throne are regarded in this city as absolutely unfounded. The prolonged stay in Paris of King Alexander, after the death of his father, King Peter, was the subject of much comment, but it would appear that the young monarch has two excellent reasons for delaying his return to Belgrade. The first was the necessity for quiet and rest after an operation performed upon him during his illness early in July. The second was his desire to bring a happy conclusion of his courtship of Princess Sophie, second daughter of Prince Emmanuel, duke of Vendome, and of Alencon, a member of the Bourbon-Orleans family. It appears at present that this courtship has been broken off because of religious differences and the reluctance of Princess Sophie to live in Belgrade.

Notice to Paving Contractors

Sealed bids will be received by the city engineer until 3 o'clock p. m., November 12, 1921, for applying asphaltic concrete on the following: Center street from South street to Peachtree street; Spring street from West Pine street to Alexander street; Peachtree street from Greenwood avenue to Virginia avenue; Mayson and Turner's Ferry road from end of present paving to the bridge over Chattahoochee river; Collier road from Peachtree road to Howell Mill road; Spring street in Cary Park from the present paving to the river car line; Peachtree street from West Peachtree street to Howell Mill road; State street from Howell Mill road to Alexander street. Specifications can be obtained from the undersigned. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids and to waive technicalities.

It is said in political circles that Alexander before consenting to return to Belgrade demanded from the government among other things, certain guarantees regarding his civil list and a revision of the constitution which would give a larger measure of autonomy to provinces acquired as a result of the world war. These reports, however, are denied by the government. Residents of Jugo-Slavia put no credence in suggestions that Alexander delayed his return because he

MILK WAGONS MOBBED BY STRIKING DRIVERS

New York, November 4.—Most violence marked the fourth day of New York's milk strike, in which the deadlock showed no signs of weakening.

From various parts of the city came police reports of attacks on wagons by strike sympathizers and the spilling of milk in the gutters. The sharpest of these disorders occurred in Brooklyn, where three wagons leaving a milk station were attacked. More than a score of shots were fired; two policemen were injured, and nearly a score of men rounded up for questioning. On the lower east side a crowd attacked a wagon carrying milk to a small store and hurled nearly a hundred bottles through the shop's window, narrowly missing some women and children. Distributors reported more strikers had been replaced and that deliveries were being resumed.

other letter from the company reiterating its position that the wage scale would be the only point the company would submit to arbitration. The mayor termed the letter as "impudent," and declared that "unless the company is willing to arbitrate, the city of Cleveland will supply milk to the hospitals and to children." Mayor Fitzgerald said no time limit was fixed in which the company is to determine its course. Company officials refused to comment on the mayor's threat.

Despite the refusal of Judge Maurice Bernon to dissolve an injunction granted yesterday restraining strikers or their sympathizers from interfering with the delivery of milk, sporadic disorders continued today.

At 10 o'clock Friday night Patrolman J. E. He hit the curb, the rear left wheel was smashed and he was slightly injured.
